

DR. STEVEN P. ADRAGNA

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT & GENERAL MANAGER, INTEGRATED SOLUTIONS

Dr. Steven Adragna actively drives client engagement for Arcanum's Integrated Solutions Group, which provides integrated and customized solutions for sovereign nations and large multinational companies. As a member of the Company's Executive Leadership Team, he participates in the formation, implementation and execution of long-term corporate strategy, strategic business development, mergers & acquisitions and governance.

Dr. Adragna has more than 20 years of experience in the fields of intelligence and security, across both the public and private sectors, and almost 15 years at the U.S. Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA), where he held a variety of positions. Most notably, he emerged as a key player at the nexus of operations and intelligence in the aftermath of the September 11th attacks, where he successfully managed a number of critical programs and for which he was personally commended by the Joint Staff Director of Operations.

Previously, Dr. Adragna held other positions at the DIA including Assistant Defense Intelligence Officer for Russia and Eurasia, Information Warfare Support Officer and Program Manager of a department-wide electronic warfare program (for which he received the DIA's highest civilian award for a special act of service), Functional Manager for Intelligence Management and senior analyst in the Regional Assessments Office.

In the private sector, Dr. Adragna has held senior-level and executive management positions with several large multinationals and Fortune 500 companies. Among these, he was Vice President and Chief of the Intelligence and Special Activities Directorate of MPRI, an L-3 division with annual revenue in excess of $1 billion. He held similar senior management roles with ManTech International, TriStar Engineering and HawkEye Systems.